Biographical/Historical Information

Eugene Bockman was appointed the Commissioner of the Department of Records and Information Services (DORIS) in 1977, having served as Director of the Municipal Reference Library from 1958 to 1977 and the Municipal Archives and Records Center (MARC) from 1975 to 1977. DORIS was created in 1977 under Local Law 49 and brought the agencies responsible for records management, reference, and archival activities under one umbrella (see Scope and Content). The commissioner serves as the chief archivist, chief reference and research librarian and chief records manager for the Mayor, Borough Presidents, and the City Council. His files reflect the history of the agency, specifically the preceding activities of MARC, the creation of DORIS, and its subsequent administration. Commissioner Bockman retired in December 1989 and was succeeded by Commissioner Idilio Gracia-Pena in 1990.

Scope and Content Note

The Eugene Bockman records contain documents and materials dated between 1940 and 1989, with the majority of files beginning in 1977, when the Department of Records and Information

Services (DORIS) was established as an independent agency, and ending with Commissioner Bockman's retirement in 1989.

The records document the administration of DORIS, as well as its sub-agencies: the Municipal Archives; Municipal Records Management Center (MRMC), and Municipal Reference and Research Center (MRRC). While each of these sub-agencies falls under the aegis of DORIS, their responsibilities are quite different.

The Municipal Archives is responsible for the long-term storage and preservation of agency records and historical material deemed to hold research and/or symbolic value. The MRMC, commonly referred to as the Records Management Unit, is tasked with the safeguard of the records belonging to other New York City agencies, including personnel and administrative files. The MRRC, which goes by the name Municipal Reference Library, exists as a reference resource for the citizens of New York City regarding the activities of its various agencies, their policies, and events that surround the day-to-day operations of the city.

In addition to the activities and operation of the agency, this collection also contains personal information from Bockman that resides outside of, though tangential to, his appointment as commissioner. These include letters, articles, essays, and notes, as well as material related to activities in various political organizations. Any personnel files related to the Commissioner Bockman records were removed and remanded into the custody of the MRMC.

Arrangement

The records of this collection are separated into three series:

Series I: Subject Files

Series II: Personal Files

Series III: Political Activities

Separated Material

Restricted material has been removed to separate storage (box 64 of this collection).

Container List

Series I: Subject files

Date(s): 1953-1989, bulk 1976-1989

Size (Extent): 30.5 cubic feet in 59 boxes

Scope and Content: The subject files series documents Commissioner Bockman's administration of the agency and its activities, policies, plans, and problems. The material is made up of memos, letters, reports, notes, photographs, newspaper clippings, pamphlets, brochures, and ephemera. The materials are not solely the creation of Commissioner Bockman. There are memos, requests and other materials from various staff members and vendors regarding agency operations, as well as letters and memos from mayors, deputy mayors, city council members, and other agency heads who were in office at the same time. There is also information on outside institutions that had shared interests with the Department of Records and Information Services, such as the New York State Historical Research Advisory Board and the New York Archival Society. Of particular interest to the agency's history are the files titled Annual Reports, Exhibitions, Fundraising (specifically the Audubon Auction of 1985), Grants, Pre-cursor Proposals and Programs, and files related to Mayor Edward Koch and Paul O'Dwyer.

Arrangement: Alphabetical by subject.

Series II: Personal files

Date(s): 1949-1989

Size (Extent): 1 cubic foot in 2 boxes

Scope and Content: This series contains correspondence, articles, invitations, memberships, notes, and items of a personal nature. While they fall outside the purview of Bockman's official duties, they give valuable insight into his early years. Of particular note are records that reflect his dedication to archival and information studies over the course of both his youth and his appointment to the office.

Arrangement: Chronological by year.

Location: 31 Chambers St., Shelf 31546-31547

Series III: Political activities

Date(s): 1962-1978

Size (Extent): 1 cubic foot in 2 boxes

Scope and Content: This series contains material related to Bockman's association and membership of various local political organizations including The FDR Club and the New Democratic Coalition. Much like the files in Series II, these fall outside the purview of his duties as Commissioner. They do, however, point to his desire for community engagement in a capacity related to, but not comprised entirely of, his skills as an archivist and records management professional.

Arrangement: Alphabetical by subject.

Location: 31 Chambers St., Shelf 31548-31549
